

Speaking and Consulting Services offered by Dr. Roy Schwartzman

Speaking Engagements

For more than two decades, Roy has delivered presentations to all types of audiences throughout the world. For example, he has made the keynote address at the Kansas City Holocaust commemoration, plus Holocaust memorial presentations at Truman State University, Chapman University, and many other venues. His Holocaust-related presentations make use of many primary sources, including previously untranslated materials.

Poetry Readings

In addition to performing, Roy is an experienced teacher of writing and international literary contest judge. His poetry readings are designed to ignite the audience's love for creative writing and exploration of expression.

Workshops and Consulting

Roy offers customized communication or writing workshops for individuals and organizations as well as corporate and government clients. Regardless of the topic, the approach is highly interactive. Participants are more than spectators—they actually receive instruction and tangible materials geared to long-term personal and professional development. Formats are adaptable to each client's needs, from 10-minute presentations to multi-day workshops or complete courses.
